Workplace giving

Does your company have a giving programme in place? Find out if your company will match your donation to double the impact.
Staff fundraisers

Host a social event like a bake sale or themed lunch to raise funds, or get a team together to do a marathon or another sponsored sports event.

Case study: In celebration of Pride month, instructors at the group fitness company Les Mills held a live-streamed workout session to raise awareness and funds for LGBTI equality.

Awareness raising

Hold a staff webinar to raise awareness about LGBTI rights. Reach out to ask about the availability of an ILGA-Europe speaker.

Case study: Hue, the LGBTQI+ staff network at WP Engine, hosted an online talk about LGBTI rights in the European region with a guest speaker from ILGA-Europe, also inviting employees to make donations which were matched by the company.

Products and campaigns

Here are some ways LGBTI inclusive businesses have supported ILGA-Europe with campaigns and cause marketing.

As Prides across Europe were being cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, U-Earth Biotech, producer of the U-Mask face masks, launched a special edition Pride facemask as a way of highlighting their commitment to diversity even under difficult circumstances, with all proceeds donated to ILGA-Europe.

Danish Fashion brand Baum und Pferdgarten launched a limited edition Pride capsule collection, donating €5 for every piece sold to ILGA-Europe.

E-sports team, Splyce launched a special Pride edition of their jersey, which they wore at a key match to show their commitment to LGBTI inclusion in gaming. The jersey was made available for fans to buy online, with profits donated to ILGA-Europe.
