

We continue to be committed to our members and to the movement

News, Covid-19

We are living through a time of unprecedented change and uncertainty. We know that everyone is grappling with how best to respond to this rapidly changing reality, wondering how to navigate these unsettling times.

There are many unknowns and concerns about our communities, especially the most vulnerable, will be impacted.

This is why ILGA-Europe is committed to making sure our vital work carries on. We continue to be committed to our members, to the LGBTI movement across Europe and Central Asia, and to our core purpose. We are adapting and finding new ways to do our work and will be in communication with you as we go along.

In the meantime, take good care of yourselves, your organisations and each other, and remember, we are stronger together!

Evelyne Paradis, Executive Director of ILGA-Europe

At this time of uncertainty, our vital work at @ILGAEurope carries on. We continue to be committed to our members, to the #LGBTI movement across #Europe & #CentralAsia, & to our core purpose. We are adapting to the circumstances. Remember, we are stronger together! #COVID19
pic.twitter.com/VaHC1ViDJR

— ILGA-Europe (@ILGAEurope) March 18, 2020

At ILGA-Europe we continue to work in #solidarity with our member organisations across 54 countries in Europe and Central Asia. Check out how our staff are working from home these days and their top tips!
<https://t.co/IKzjseP8WX>

— ILGA-Europe (@ILGAEurope) March 20, 2020